WEDNESDAY

JANUARY 29, 1908

The warships of America exist for no other purpose than to protect peace against possible aggression and justice against possible oppression. As between the United States and Brazil these ships are not men-of-war, but are messengers of friendship and good-will, commissioned to combine with you the long-continued and never-to-be-broken amity and mutual helpfulness of the two great republics.—President Roosevelt.

THE MCKINLEY MEMORIAL.

The energetic women who have aroused the citizens of Honolulu to a recognition of the birthday of the late President McKinley are public benefactors.

While contemplating their good work, it should to our people some good to consider how, in the past, Honolulu has neglected McKinley.

For so many months that the time is now advancing into years the people of this city have been almost, if not quite, utterly indifferent to the perfection of a lasting memorial to the martyred President, who had a deeper and more personal interest in the Hawaiian Islands than any President before him. — more, indeed, than any President likely to come after.

He was a man above all men, a President above all Presidents, to whom the people of these Islands should pay a permanent tribute in some lasting memorial.

The old and the young responded to the first appeal for funds to erect or establish a memorial.

It is now months and almost years since the appeal was made, and practically nothing has been done—until, perhaps, today.

The little time devoted to the President who was Hawaii's friend has been largely occupied with airing a variety of views on whether the memorial should take the form of a park, a statue, a shaft, an arch, or what not.

Discussion is good. But there is such a thing as talking a subject to death. This is the danger threatening the McKinley memorial.

The meeting today is to renew interest, and arouse our citizens to a deeper sense of their obligation to the memory of a great man. May it succeed.

Rather than spend any further time in a discussion of what form the memorial shall take, would it not be well to make it certain that there shall be a memorial erected in the near future, and, whatever happens, that there shall be included with that memorial a statue of the man.

A community that has so quickly forgotten McKinley should have some reminder, else future generations will have to be reminded that the man McKinley is the one sought to be honored.

INFLUENCE OF THE ORIENTAL

Professor William L. Thomas of the University of Chicago looks upon the contact of the Orientals with the Western races as a stimulus that will change the Western habits somewhat, but in the end will make for a higher civilization. He points out the high state of civilization reached in Japan where white methods have been rigidly applied. "As a result of the civilization of the Orient," he says, "the civilization of the white is in a critical situation. Owing to the ease of communication a rapid movement of integration is going on, and while all people will not rapidly become of one blood, they are with the swiftness of thought becoming one consciousness." In his opinion the inclusion of the yellow race, and of all races in our world of consciousness will be only another step in contact and control, and the yellow peril will really furnish stimulation for advancing the progress of socialization. And why not? "I were certainly better thus."

THE HUMILIATION OF AMERICAN MERCHANT MARINE

The following resolve adopted by the New York Board of Trade and Transportation should be posted in the hat of every Congressman and fed to him regularly with each meal:

While we refrain from urging the adoption of any specific plan for restoring the American merchant marine, we believe that the necessity of depending upon the colliers and other auxiliaries of other nations in the cruise of the American fleet to the Pacific, is humiliating to the American people and invites disaster, and we most earnestly urge upon Congress the great importance of immediately adopting measures which will insure the sailing under the American flag, whether owned by the Government or by citizens, of a sufficient number of transports and colliers, or vessels adapted to those used to make the American fleet independent of foreign vessels both in peace and in war.

The only addition the Bulletin would suggest is, that the humiliation of the American people is notably increased when they contemplate the fact that the passenger steamers flying the American flag are being steadily wiped off the face of the ocean. And the Government, instead of supporting American passenger lines with laws and subsidies that will place them on an equality with ships of other nations, punishes with a heavy fine the resident and travelers who take passage between American ports, on any other than one of the steadily dwindling number of American ships.

Protection properly applied is the foundation of American progress; misapplied or neglected, as in the case of the merchant marine—it works out its own salvation in the form of gradual annihilation.

That is what is happening to American ships on the Pacific Ocean.

It may not be pleasant to contemplate, but as "Billy" Kent, the Chicago reformer, says, "Whatever is, is so."

The most complete collection of works of Robert Louis Stevenson in existence will be sold in New York January 26 and 27. Every copy has an autograph, or is accompanied by an autograph letter. The collection was made by George M. Williamson and contains work of which no other copies exist.

"WHEN WOMEN LOVE"

"When Women Love" is being played for the first time at this afternoon's matinee at the Orpheum and is to be repeated tonight and tomorrow night. This is a comedy-drama of the domestic type, and while it has a strong plot and a splendid love story running all through it has also much excellent comedy, furnished by two old men, veterans of the Civil War on opposite sides. Mr. Cooley will be seen as Major Macoy Edwards, a Chicago pork-packer, who talks "hog" continually. There are many strong points in this play, which Mr. Cooley is satisfied will prove unusually pleasing.

Friday night the first performance of "The Black Flag" is to be given. This is a stirring melodrama. Next Monday night the Odd Fellows' Canton holds forth at the theater, sharing in the receipts. Tickets are for sale by all members of the Canton and present prospects are for the biggest house of the season.

MRS. ATCHERLEY REPLIES

Editor Evening Bulletin:
In your issue of Jan. 28th, 1908, I see that Mr. Chas. Notley has kindly provided you with some abusive remarks about us.

I beg to state that the advice we have given Mr. Wallach in regard to the newly drawn up agreement of the disappointed Board of Health and members of the Committee of Ten, is that of true and sincere friends.

In the new agreement where Mr. Chas. Notley and the Committee of Ten are playing against Mr. Wallach and siding with President Pinkham of the Board of Health—"Mr. Wallach is not allowed a key to the doors of the experiment station, where he can go in and out when necessary without any check and interference by the agents of his enemies." In case of any dangerous and unexpected attack of a complication, Mr. Wallach having no key in his possession, will be unable to get to his patients or else get out to secure any additional medical application. In case any of his patients should die he will then according to law be liable to the charge of manslaughter. But if Mr. Wallach had the key, as given him in the agreement that he has already signed, of which President

Pinkham and the Committee of Ten are trying to crawl out of, there would be less danger of failure, and a fair chance of success of the treatment.

If Mr. Notley says that it is for Mr. Wallach's true interest that he has been haunting our office for the whole of last week and using threats in case Mr. Wallach did not sign the new agreement, I say now, and will say it again, that it is not the truth, but, instead, he is working only for Mr. Notley's own pocket and interest. However, any man with Mr. Notley's record of the past, has to say, is not worth the paper written on.

We had thought that this man had changed in his character, but now we see it is impossible to get any good from him for the sake of his people and nation.

In regard to fees of examination, all patients are examined thoroughly by my husband before treatment begins, and whatever charges we have in our office is our business, and not his.

Thanking you very much for your valuable space, I am, sir,

Yours respectfully,
MARY H. ATCHERLEY.

[The Bulletin has also received a communication from Dr. Atcherley, which will have to wait for a later issue.]

THE RIGHT MEDICINE FOR PELVIC TROUBLES FOUND IN PE-RU-NA

MRS. CAROLINE KRAMER, Fort Collins, Col., writes:
"The majority of women who are suffering from disordered periods and other pelvic troubles, have such strong faith in doctors that they allow them to experiment on them for kidney, liver or stomach troubles until they become completely discouraged and their money is gone."

"This was my unfortunate experience for nearly two years when my attention was called to Peruna."

"I hardly dared believe that at last I had found the right medicine, but as I kept on using it and was finally cured, I could only thank God and take courage."

"I have had most satisfying results from the use of your medicine and have advised dozens of women who were suffering with woman's ills to use Peruna and let the doctors alone."

"Those who followed my advice are better today and many are fully restored to health."

Mrs. Wida Mooers, R. F. D., No. 1, Lents, Ore., writes:

"For the past four years I was a wretched woman, suffering with severe backaches and other pains, leaving me weak and weary that it was only with difficulty that I was able to attend to my household duties."

"I used different remedies, but found no relief until I had tried Peruna."

"Within two weeks there was a change for the better and in less than three months I was a well and happy woman."

"All the praise is due to Peruna."

CORNERSTONE FOR THE NEW HIGH SCHOOL

On the first day of March, the cornerstone of the new High School building will be laid under the auspices of the High School Alumni Association.

Robert King, president of the association, said yesterday that the arrangements for the ceremony will be carried out by the committees appointed from the school and association.

FORT BIDS WILL SOON BE CALLED

The Quartermaster-General Says It Will Be About the First of March.

That the bids for the construction of the additional buildings at Fort Shafter will be called about March is the news which H. P. Wood gave the Chamber of Commerce yesterday by forwarding the following letter which he had received:

"Washington, Jan. 15, 1908.

"Mr. H. P. Wood, Secretary, Honolulu Chamber of Commerce, The Faryagut, Washington, D. C.

"Sir:—Replying to your letter of the 13th instant, enclosing clippings from newspapers published in Honolulu, Hawaiian Territory, in reference to proposed construction at the new post near that city, I have the honor to inform you that the preparation of plans and specifications for the buildings required there has been somewhat delayed by the great pressure of important work of the same kind at Ft. Monroe, Va., which has not yet been completed, but it is expected to finish the plans for the buildings at Honolulu and send them out with instructions to invite bids for their construction on or about the first of March. Respectfully,
J. B. ALESHIRE,
Quartermaster General, U. S. Army."

The erection of these additional buildings will not mean that there will be accommodations for any more troops than are stationed at the Fort at present, namely, four companies. The fact is that the companies which are there now have not sufficient accommodations according to the regulations, and when the new buildings are provided they will have only the standard equipment for a four-company post.

HON. WILLIAM J. WRIGHT DEAD

In 1903 he was elected to the Legislature from the district of South Kona. His funeral will take place at 4 o'clock this afternoon.
